(NEW YORK, NY) — Cohen Pontani Lieberman & Pavane LLP, a preeminent specialist in intellectual property law, is pleased to announce that Alan Tenenbaum has joined the firm as a partner.

Tenenbaum is widely known for his broad knowledge of intellectual property, including his experience in litigating early disputes concerning e-commerce and the Internet. He has extensive experience in litigating patent, trademark, trade secret and related matters involving telecommunications equipment and other electronic hardware and software, consumer products, business methods, chemicals, pharmaceuticals and genetically-modified plants. He has also represented numerous organizations in the procurement of patent and trademark rights, and in commercial disputes that concern technology. Tenenbaum also regularly counsels clients regarding dispute avoidance and resolution, and regarding appropriate corporate IP practices and policies.

"Alan is a welcome addition to Cohen Pontani Lieberman & Pavane's already significant intellectual property practice," says Managing Partner Martin B. Pavane. "The breadth and depth of his litigation experience, combined with his existing client relationships furthers this firm's continued success and high standing in the global intellectual property arena."

"Cohen Pontani Lieberman & Pavane's focus and expertise offers clear benefits to my client base compared to most general practice firms," Tenenbaum says, "and the firm's experience and track record in intellectual property litigation is unparalleled, particularly for a firm of its size."

Tenenbaum received a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from Union College, and a J.D. from the George Washington University. He is admitted to practice in New York and before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Additionally, he is a member of the American Intellectual Property Law Association, and the New York Intellectual Property Law Association.

CPLP is unique in its focus on intellectual property litigation that infuses every aspect of its IP work in prosecution of patents, trademarks, and copyrights; in drafting opinions and licenses; and in due diligence and transaction work. It is CPLP's philosophy that no legal activity is so routine that it does not have the potential to become the weak link in IP protection, resulting in legal exposure or porous rights. Hence, the firm views all IP matters as potential litigations to be won or avoided and is positioned to provide world-class litigation services, as well as other highly skilled IP services to achieve wraparound IP protection at the highest level.
